This week at School Headteacher's message

Dear Parents and Guardians,

What a fantastic week of learning it has been at Meva! This week during assemblies, we have been focusing on the value of respect, and it has been truly inspiring to see our students not only understand what respect means but also put it into action in meaningful ways.

Throughout the week, children have been discussing the difference between knowing what respect is and showing it in their daily interactions. We have seen wonderful examples of this across the school, from our Year 6 pupils leading playground games at lunchtime and supporting younger students as reading buddies, to children taking the time to ask how their peers' days have been and holding open doors.

Respect has also been evident in our learning spaces, with students working together to create positive environments for each other and showing responsibility by keeping our school tidy. The list of respectful acts we've witnessed goes on, and we couldn't be prouder of our pupils for embracing this important value of the Mevagissey Way. We encourage you to continue these conversations at home—ask your child about the ways they have shown respect this week and how they can continue to demonstrate it in their everyday lives. As adults, it is our responsibility to model that respect to each other so that children see good examples both in and outside of school.

Thank you for your ongoing support in helping us nurture a respectful and caring school community. This will be the last newsletter of the term. We hope you all have a lovely Easter break.

Kind Regards,

Mrs Rees
